

Climate Challenge: North Cascades National Park

ELECTRONIC FIELD TRIP (EFT)

Wednesday, October 13, 2010

10am – 11am ET

1pm ET – 2pm ET

LIVE Web Show (viewing the live show via Internet):

The live shows will be webcast at <http://www.nationalparks.org/eft>. Please make sure you have access to that website. The video player will not be featured on this page until the day of the show. You will need an 800k Internet connection to effectively stream the broadcast.

We encourage you to test your video connection at:

<http://mediasuite.multicastmedia.com/playerlive.php?e=wi0q5jz8&doResize=false>

(NOTE: If you are unable to see the test video stream (should be a fish tank), please ask your Network Administrator to enable port 1935 on your network to allow for Flash Video streaming.)

LIVE Television Show (viewing the live show via television):

At the bottom of this document is a list of PBS and other educational broadcasters that will air the show. If you choose to view the show on one of these stations, please make sure to check with the station's listing to ensure that the broadcast will air as planned.

If your local PBS or educational broadcaster is not represented on the list below, please feel free to get in touch and ask about the possibility of their airing the show.

Call in # and Email During the Show:

Teachers and students can call into the show during certain segments to ask questions live on air at (800) 558-8061. This number will only be active on the day of the show. When calling into the show, please make sure you turn down the volume on your TV or stream.

Teachers and students can also email questions to a bank of experts during the show at northcascadesoft@gmail.com. These questions will not be answered live on air, but will be responded to by North Cascades National Park staff promptly.

Lesson Plan Live:

During one section of the show Jeff Corwin and a group of students will demonstrate an activity from our lesson plan on glaciers. This lesson plan can be found at <http://www.northcascadesoft.org/lessons/Lesson2.pdf>.

Technical Assistance or Questions?

If you have questions or trouble accessing the show or any of its elements on the day of the show, please call us at 202-354-6465. Staff at the National Park Foundation will be ready to help. You can also email us at eft@nationalparks.org.

View the Live Show Later:

The live broadcasts aired on October 13th will be recorded and offered in perpetuity at www.nationalparks.org/eft. If you are not able to watch the live show, please feel free to view the show from this url at any time. Registration is not required.

Web Site:

To access all the information and educational features of this EFT including, lesson plans and interactive games, visit www.northcascadeseft.org.

Please Fill Out Our Questionnaire:

A brief survey regarding the show and its usefulness to you and your students will be sent to you the day after the show via our registration system. Please complete the survey so that we can continue to improve the show based on your needs.

Tell Your Friends:

Please continue to tell your friends and networks of teachers about the opportunity to participate in this EFT. We want to make sure that every teacher has a chance to take advantage of the website and the broadcast! Registration will be open online at <https://myaccount.nationalparks.org/SSLPage.aspx?pid=426> until the day of the show.
